Description
This PCN is being issued to address M.2 products with heatsink and E1.S series products ESD bag change.
To standardize packaging materials and improve material management efficiency, Innodisk will integrate the current ESD bag specifications into one unified ESD bag specification as below "Summary of Change".

Summary of Change
Prior to the change, ESD bags were managed under multiple parts.
Following the change, these have been consolidated into a single part, featuring an anti-static warning print, a self-adhesive seal, and a standardized 70×130mm dimension.
